Retired Man Has Time to Put Into Effect Daydreams, Phantasies

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you afraid you'll have nothing to do but sit and twiddle your thumbs when you retire?

Tush and twiddle! A retired man is not like a workhorse put out to pasture and confined by fence bars. He is free of mind and at last has the time and one hopes the energy, to try and put into effect some of the daydreams and phantasies that have entertained him through the years.

For example, here's a list of possibilities that would keep him from getting rusty:

Dig for buried treasure.
Sail the Spanish Main.
Learn to speak Tagalog.
Bridge the generation gap by adopting a teen-ager.
Invent a new card game or a new-flavored cough drop.
Make a collection of cobwebs, cigar wrappers or old credit cards.

Become a landlord for fun and profit.
Take lessons on the tambourine or an African jungle drum.
Enlist as an unpaid spy for the CIA.

Train a falcon to dive bomb unsuspecting old women and fly off with their handbags. That'll make you a pioneer in aerial mugging, a hitherto overlooked form of crime.

Wear spats, and start a new clothing fad.

Cap a climax.

Open a new era.
Develop a computer that will translate government gobbledegook into modern English folk songs, so it can be sung as well as read.

End campus riots by leading a revival of interest among college students in the old New England custom of bundling—and let them practice it in classrooms.

Publish a $1 guidebook listing all the pubs and bars in America in which the third drink is still served on the house. It shouldn't run to more than two pages, triple spaced.

Discover a nostrum beside old age that will put sex in its proper perspective.

If none of these activities entice you out of the "retirement blues," maybe it's because you've become too dull for this zestful world. In that case, perhaps you could solve your woes by persuading a cannibal to invite you for lunch during National Brotherhood Week.

Chemists have discovered 103 chemical elements.

Last Chance... This Summer

It's hard to believe but Labor Day is almost here again—the last big fling before school starts. Next year's summer won't be like this one. Backyard pools may not be as exciting for the kids, and junior already is becoming a young man. Today's special brand of fun will be gone. If you've been keeping your camera handy all summer, you probably have dozens of happy picture memories to look back on. But if your camera hasn't clicked too often, make this the weekend you do a little catching up. Plan now to stop in for fresh Kodak film—and let us check your camera Kodak film does make a difference!

FORREST CITY

Society. "It cannot be here if we are to accomplish the things that need accomplishing."

The committee is an outgrowth of the organization of white pickets who showed up Tuesday outside the Forrest City police station and city hall to demonstrate for what they call "law and order."

It was during picketing Tuesday night that angry whites in a crowd of several hundred persons roughed up three white newsmen and two Negroes, including Lance "Sweet Willie Wine" Watson, leader of a black militant group in Memphis called the Invaders.

Because of the violence, local authorities placed the city under curfew and requested help from the National Guard and State Police.

There have been no major incidents since Tuesday night, and Police Chief Marvin Gunn said tension had eased.

Authorities have reduced the four original National Guard units in Forrest City to one. The State Police also was expected to reduce its 80-man force here.

Picketing by whites has continued and authorities say the 7 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew will remain in effect for an indefinite period.

Saliba, who asked for no leadership role in the committee, suggested a three-point program for the whites that included the voter registration drive, the escort service for women and removal of any local authorities in cases in which the dissidents have "concrete" evidence of malfeasance in office. He did not suggest any candidate for removal.

Pickets have demanded the resignations of Gunn and Mayor Robert Cope. Gunn says that local authorities have done all they can to keep the peace since racial trouble started last March when students rioted at an all-Negro school.

Gunn, who says that he does not believe the pickets represent "the people of Forrest City wholly," said Thursday that whites were upset because of the recent stabbing of a white grocer and the alleged raping of two whites by Negroes.

Few of the whites attending the meeting in the St. Francis County Courthouse were professional people, and Saliba said he was not "one damned bit ashamed to be up here with you today."

Referring to the pickets' accusation that there had been a breakdown in law and order, Saliba said, "I thank God that at least we have some people who say it will not happen any more as long as we have the strength to fight it."

"Change must be orderly, must be within the law and must be done by organized strength. If we disobey the law are we any better than the people and things we are fighting?"

Discussing activities by some Negroes, Saliba told the crowd gathered in a courtroom of the ancient courthouse, "When these hoodlums hit the streets, no one is safe."

He said local Negroes were "terror stricken."

The whites named Robert Morphis, a local service station operator and former law enforcement officer, as its chairman. Also named officers were five other persons.

The State Police reported one curfew violation by midnight Thursday, bringing to 18 the number of arrests since 2 p.m. Wednesday in Forrest City.

113 on Plane Hijacked in Rome

ROME (AP) — A Trans World Airlines jet carrying 113 persons was hijacked today on a flight from Rome to Tel Aviv and officials of the line announced later in Paris that it had landed at Damascus, Syria.

The Boeing 707 had been scheduled to make a stop in Athens, Greece, before terminating its flight at Tel Aviv, but one airline official said it had been hijacked over Brindisi, southern Italy.

A rumor at Rome's Fiumicino Airport said two Arab notables were on the hijacked Boeing 707, but an airline spokesman would not confirm this.

told their Army superiors in Saigon that the suspect had been sent on a mission. The CIA man advised that the true story be told to Army investigators.

An investigator then went to the Green Beret unit and determined to his satisfaction that there was evidence the Vietnamese man had died June 20.

In sum, according to this version, the Vietnamese victim was not a CIA employee, the CIA never ordered him killed but only recommended that he be turned over to South Vietnamese officials, and the CIA only learned of the reported death after it had occurred.

The Green Beret commander, Col. Robert B. Rheault, was relieved of his command July 21 and on Aug. 5 the Army announced the charges against him and the other seven.

The Army inquired, a military version of a grand jury investigation, ended Aug. 21. It is now up to the investigating officer to recommend whether the accused special forces men should be brought to trial.

Expression's Origin

The expression, "neither fish nor fowl nor good red herring," goes back to medieval times and means something not suitable for any group of people. Not fish, which meant food for monks; not fowl, which would have been suitable for the general run of people; nor good red herring, which would have been for the poorest people.

J. R. Bennett, President and General Manager of Homestead Industries, local manufacturer of mobile homes made known today three recent promotions at Homestead involving Jerry Bell, Richard McQueen, and Edwin Lockerman, all newly arrivals in Hope.

Mr. Bennett announced that Mr. Bell, a long time veteran of the mobile home industry and one of the founders of Homestead would be transferring to the Homestead Industries Division in Albertville, Alabama and promoted to Vice-President and Director of Materials for all homestead operations.

At the same time Mr. McQueen will transfer to Albertville, Alabama in his higher capacity as Vice-President and Director of the newly formed Modular Division of Homestead Industries. With reference to Mr. McQueen's promotion Mr. Bennett stated that Mr. McQueen was selected due to his broad experience in the modular housing field and mass production know how.

Meanwhile, Mr. Lockerman presently associated with Homestead will remain at the Hope Division and has accepted the promotion to the vacated position of Materials Manager previously occupied by Mr. Bell.

In making known these changes Mr. Bennett said "all of these promotions were in keeping with the excellent growth pattern which Homestead Industries expects to show in its climb to leadership in the expanding housing industry."

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!
This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Dear Helen: Your advice is very sensible and to the point — most of the time.

But I was disappointed and disillusioned when I read your answer to the man who wanted you to inform the government about his neighbor's cheating on income tax.

You were correct when you said this report was his own responsibility, but you labeled his perfectly legitimate urge to help his country when you snapped, "Do you own finking?"

I think it is the duty of every citizen to pay his fair share of taxes. When an individual has information showing conclusively that someone is cheating, it is his duty to report it to the I.R.S., just as surely as it would be his place to identify a bank robber if he were a witness.

Income tax cheaters rob the government, and therefore rob the citizens. The tax men often have no other leads except where concerned citizens give them tips. I might add the tipsters are well paid for their information, with a percentage of the tax money collected.

To heap scorn on one who reports cheating (by calling him a fink) is to align yourself with the cheater. —N.C.

Dear N: These "concerned citizens" are either out for revenge or a reward. If you don't like my first word for them, how about a "stool pigeon"? Perhaps they patriotically inform, but I still say they "fink big!" —H.

Dear Helen: My daughter started going with a no good boy when she was 16. He treated her like

But Jess, the no-good, came back to town. He never wanted her, but he can't stand someone else having her, so he's been calling, writing and begging her to see him. He's a ditherer, without a job, but a real ladies man.

She resisted, but I'm afraid she has weakened. I know my daughter. She has changed this last week. She seems far away in a dream world.

I don't know what kind of hold Jess has over her, but I'm terribly afraid he's going to talk her into leaving her husband. What can a mother do when she sees her daughter about to ruin her life, just because she is hypnotized by a snake? — ANOTHER WHO CAN'T SLEEP

Dear AWCS: Give your daughter credit for more sense than she had at age 16. And take her shopping for baby clothes. I do not think she'll waver long — especially if her husband gives her the special attention she needs right now. —H.

Dear Helen: My husband never approved of our daughter's husband. Now they have got themselves in another bad financial jam and will lose their furniture if I don't secretly co-sign a loan for them. My husband would kill me, as they already owe us a mint. What can I do? — UNHAPPY GRANDMOTHER

Television and Radio

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The redhead with the showgirl's figure was taking an afternoon dip in her pool and making a good effort at keeping a stiff upper lip: the first bird was about to leave the nest.

Lucile Desiree Arnaz, who was 18 last month, moved today into her own apartment. Her bachelor-girl quarters are not far from home, but for Lucille Ball, as for any parent, it is an important milestone.

Little Lucile was born shortly before the premier of "I Love Lucy" in 1951 and grew up with the series. Now with 16-year-old Desi IV, who was almost born on the show, they are starting a second season co-starring on camera as Lucy's children.

Lucille climbed out of the pool, into a terrycloth robe and began reflecting about bringing up children in a show business family.

"I wanted mine in the show because I thought it would teach them something, help them to decide what they wanted to do," she said. "And I think it has."

Lucille Ball is a fine comedienne but it must never be forgotten that she is also a business woman who as president of Desilu learned about the practical side of television.

"From the beginning I wanted to keep them in the show for three years—that's enough for experience and enough to build up enough shows for syndication later. I wanted them in the series for the same reason I want them out of it after three years. Then they can decide what comes next."

She hopes it will be college for both if they want it.

Lucile, soft drink can in hand, joined her mother to report glowingly the results of a session with the wallpaper man at the new apartment.

"She's just about stripped this place and her father's house at Del Mar to furnish it," said her mother proudly. "She's handling the whole thing herself."

The comedienne brushed off almost carelessly questions about the roughest competition in her TV career from "Laugh-In." Her own show, however, has stayed high on the Nielsen charts. This coming season Lucy and company will move out of the studio to make shows in distant spots.

"It gives the show a new look and does something for the performers," Miss Ball said. "We did two shows at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs. The weather was murderous—rain, snow, hail, sleet—you could see ball stones bouncing off people's heads. We just kept on working through it for five hours. It doesn't show on the screen as much as we thought."

The two episodes will open the new Lucy season on CBS Sept. 22.

The Ball base is the Beverly Hills home in which the children grew up, and the studio she once owned. Lucy and second husband Gary Morton have a

"Gary and the children are always asking me what I want, and the other day I told them," said Lucy. "I want a lodge, on a mountain, in the trees, I want a place with privacy, deep woods, rough beams and where you can chop wood."
Miss Ball wants to chop wood?
"No, Gary and Desi," she said.
Gary, sitting close by, did not look enthusiastic, but smiled gamely. Lucy may like the rustic life but he prefers golf and tinkering with antique autos.

Aaron Leads Braves to Victory

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
"Never look back," says Satchel Paige, "something or somebody may be gaining on you."

It's a problem Hank Aaron doesn't have. He can peek back all he wants because the only guy doing any gaining is Henry himself.

The Atlanta slugger unloaded two more home runs Thursday night, including the 12th grand slam of his career, leading the Braves to an 8-2 romp over Pittsburgh. The two homers gave him 36 this year and 546 for his career—third on the all-time list behind Babe Ruth's 714 and Willie Mays' 598.

Aaron has gained 25 homers on Mays this season. Willie started the year 77 ahead of Henry, 587 to 510 but now the margin is down to 52.

Aaron is 545 homers ahead of Steve Huntz, St. Louis' rookie infielder, who hit his first major league homer in the 10th inning to give the Cardinals a 2-1 decision over Houston.

In other National League games Thursday, San Francisco edged Philadelphia 4-3, Chicago dropped Cincinnati 3-1 and Montreal ripped Los Angeles 9-5. New York and San Diego were off.

In the American League, Boston outlasted Kansas City 9-8, Baltimore topped Seattle 4-3 in 11 innings and Detroit did Oakland 4-3 in 13 innings. The other teams were not scheduled.

Aaron got the Braves off in front quickly with a two-run homer in the first inning after Tony Gonzalez had walked.

Atlanta was leading 4-1 in the seventh and loaded the bases on singles by George Stone and Felix Millan and an error. Aaron hit reliever Bruce Dal Canton's first pitch for the grand slam—giving him six RBIs for the night.

Stone gave up 11 hits before being relieved in the eighth inning but won his 11th game. Steve Blass, 13-8, took the loss.

Huntz' leadoff homer in the 10th inning beat Houston's Don Wilson for the Cardinals.

Wilson, seeking his 17th victory, had the Cards shut out on two hits going into the ninth. But Vada Pinson opened that inning with a single and Joe Torre singled off Denis Menke's chest, moving Pinson to third. Dave Ricketts' sacrifice fly got the tying run home.

Then Huntz' homer won it for reliever Jim Grant, 7-10. Until the ninth, Wilson, 16-9, had protected an unearned run scored two hits going into the ninth on Doug Rader's single in the first.

Ron Huntz's fourth hit of the game drove in pitcher Frank Linzy with San Francisco's winning run in the eighth inning and gave the Giants their eighth straight victory.

Linzy, 12-6, won his second game in as many days against the Phillies.

The Cubs halted a four-game slide by beating Cincinnati behind Ferguson Jenkins, 18-7.

Jenkins struck out eight to raise his National League leading total to 232 and Billy Williams and Jim Hickman supplied the offense with solo home runs. The victory increased Chicago's East Division lead over the New York to 2½ games.

Coco Laboy's pinch double drove in two runs and Bobby Wine singled for two more as the Expos rallied to take the lead against Los Angeles in the seventh inning. Ex-Jodger Ron Fairly rapped a two-run homer in the eighth.

Week From Today Its Ashdown

BY: RALPH ROUTON

Star Sports Writer
One week from today the Hope Bobcats will play the first game of the '69 season, away from home against the Ashdown Panthers.

Following the scrimmage action Tuesday night, the squad ran through a light drill in shorts on Wednesday morning, then dressed out fully in the afternoon for what Coach Ronnie Higgins termed "the best workout we've had so far."

Even though these good practices and satisfying progress, however, there is an air of remembrance from last fall, when the superlatives were nullified in the opening 7-0 loss to Ashdown. That game continues to be mentioned in this column because of its importance now in the Bobcats situation.

This year's seniors recall only too well the slipup in 1968, and are working hard toward correcting it this time. Ashdown will have to be ready to play, for they start the defense of their District 7-A crown only the next week against the Nashville Scorpions.

The second of three drills under the lights of Hammons Stadium will be tonight, and the coaches and players are looking forward to the scrimmaging with much enthusiasm.

Coach Gaylord Solomon's Bobkittens worked out in pads for the first time on Wednesday, and he described the practice as "typical for the first day in full pads."

The juniors have a bit of rebuilding to do after last year's freshmen ran up a 6-1 record without much help from the 8th graders. Solomon is being assisted by Coach George Straughter, and they still have about 60 boys on the Bobkitten squad.

Still, Northrup fell far short of John Burnett's one-man act with Cleveland in 1932, when he lashed nine hits in 18 innings.

Jackson, with 45 homers, also fell short with only a single and two walks in seven trips to the plate.

The Orioles, after tying their game in the sixth on Brooks Robinson's sacrifice fly, used Chico Salmon's squeeze bunt to win.

Salmon only got to bat after entering the game as a pinch runner earlier and then standing by as the Pilots walked. Franc Robinson set up Seattle's 12th defeat in 13 games with a single and reached third on two ground outs.

Conigliaro's 17th homer after 18 hitless times at bat saddled Kansas City with its fifth straight loss after the Royals had taken the lead with two runs in the eighth.

Carl Yastrzemski hit his 34th homer and Rico Petrocelli his 32nd earlier for the Red Sox, while Pat Kelly hit a homer and Jerry Adair a homer and a three-run triple for the Royals.

Oakland's Bid to Catch Twin's Dimmed

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer
One of Jim Northrup's one-man shows has stolen the spotlight for at least one night from slugging Reggie Jackson.

While Jackson stood by helplessly, Northrup dimmed the lights on Oakland's bid to catch Minnesota by cracking his second homer and sixth hit of the game in the 13th inning Thursday night, sending the Detroit Tigers to a 5-3 victory over the A's.

The loss, the third in a row for Oakland, dropped the A's 3½ games behind the idle Twins in the only American League race going in the West Division.

Baltimore, the runaway leader in the East, squeezed in another victory with a 4-3 decision over Seattle in 11 innings.

In the only other AL game, Boston tripped Kansas City 9-8 in the afternoon on Tony Conigliaro's three-run eighth inning homer.

In the National League, the Chicago Cubs trimmed Cincinnati 3-1, Atlanta blasted Pittsburgh 8-2, San Francisco edged Philadelphia 4-3, St. Louis slipped by Houston 2-1 in 10 innings and Montreal beat Los Angeles 9-5 in the only games scheduled.

Northrup, who went 6-for-6 against the A's, had stepped onto center stage in 1967 with two grand slam homers in a week and then took on star status last season with two slams in one game, three in a week and four in a month. He added one in the World Series and then helped win it in the seventh game with a two-run triple.

The hard-hitting outfielder didn't get a chance with the bases loaded against the A's, but his solo homer in the second inning and Norm Cash's two-run belt in the seventh got the Tigers into extra innings.

After slashing singles in the fifth, seventh, ninth and 11th, Northrup followed two strike outs and Cash's single off George Lauzerique, 3-2, in the 13th with his drive off a 3-pitch over the right field wall, No. 18 this season.

"Earl Wilson was giving me quite a time because his pizza was getting cold," Northrup joked while eating a slice of pizza which waited for the players after the game. "I had to do something."

Still, Northrup fell far short of John Burnett's one-man act with Cleveland in 1932, when he lashed nine hits in 18 innings.

Jackson, with 45 homers, also fell short with only a single and two walks in seven trips to the plate.

Cowboys in Rally to Beat Oilers

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer
The Dallas Cowboys still are the pro football champions of the great state of Texas.

Their reign was threatened for a spell by the Houston Oilers before 55,310 in the Astrodome Thursday night, but the NFL Cowboys rallied in the second half and pulled out a 14-11 exhibition victory over their AFL rivals.

Quarterback Craig Morton passed 34 yards to Lance Rentzel for a third period touchdown that erased a 3-0 Houston halftime lead. In the last period, Morton engineered another TD. He passed 34 yards to Bob Hayes on the Oiler three and rookie Calvin Hill plunged over on the next play.

A 30-yard field goal by Roy Gerela gave the Oilers their early lead, but they didn't score again until the closing minutes when Don Trull tossed a three-yard pass to Jim Beirne, then passed to Hoyle Granger for a two-point conversion.

Morton finished the game with 14 completions for 218 yards in 32 passes.

The game kicked off a busy Labor Day weekend schedule that has all of the 26 teams in the NFL-AFL in action.

The Kansas City Chiefs, unbeaten in four starts like the Baltimore Colts, play their NFL rivals, the St. Louis Cardinals, tonight for the pro title of the great state of Missouri.

Nine games on Saturday and two on Sunday wind up the 13-game weekend.

The Cardinals hope to stop the Chiefs tonight by putting the rush on quarterback Len Dawson and average last year's 13-10 loss to the AFL leader in the exhibition standings.

The annual twi-night doubleheader before an expected 85,000 sellout at Cleveland features Saturday's games. In the opener, the Chicago Bears take on the Buffalo Bills. The Browns and Green Bay Packers tangle in the nightcap.

Joe Namath and his world champion New York Jets take on the Minnesota Vikings at Winston-Salem, N.C., Baltimore is at Miami while Washington and Detroit play at Tampa, Fla. in a nationally televised (CBS) game.

Atlanta is at New Orleans, Cincinnati at Pittsburgh, Los Angeles at San Diego and the New York Giants battle Philadelphia at Princeton, N.J. in Saturday's other games.

On Sunday Denver plays Boston at Jacksonville, Fla. and San Francisco is at Oakland.

PITCHING—Ferguson, Jenkins, Cubs, ended Chicago's four-game losing streak with a five-hitter, striking out eight, in a 3-1 victory over Cincinnati.

BATTING—Jim Northrup, Tigers, slammed four singles and two homers, the second with one on in the 13th inning, lifting Detroit to a 5-3 victory over Oakland.

Prohibition Strikes the Boston Team

BOSTON (AP) — Prohibition is just a name from the past for members of the Boston Red Sox, but it's suddenly striking home.

The edict is out: no more booze on flights between cities. And that goes for players, Manager Dick Williams, the coaches, writers and anyone else traveling on the Red Sox' charter plane.

General Manager Dick O'Connell, a social drinker himself, cracked down Thursday, directing "airlines not to serve hard liquor" to any personnel on Red Sox' chartered flights.

The Red Sox declined to expand on O'Connell's memo posted in the clubhouse and later distributed through copies for traveling baseball writers.

However, players privately criticized stewardesses on United Airlines, which accommodates the Red Sox charters.

Most of the Boston players are married and were harsh in attacks, verbally, on some hostesses.

The Associated Press learned that the club's hard liquor ban resulted from an incident aboard a United Airlines flight from San Francisco Aug. 4 after the Red Sox ended a road trip with a lengthy doubleheader at Oakland.

A stewardess allegedly was insulted by a couple of players during the flight to Boston. She reportedly complained to superiors, who relayed the information to O'Connell.

The stewardess, not identified, may have complained to the pilot, captain of the plane. However, none of the Red Sox personnel aboard have any such knowledge.

COWBOYS HAVE 26 BACK LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — Wyoming's defending Western Athletic Conference football champions have 26 lettermen back under Coach Lloyd Eaton.

PROSPECTUS—A 2-12 record in third year of existence doesn't indicate much progress for Falcons. But Dutch Van Brocklin's got 'em hustling at least and lapped off lots of hangers-on. There'll be a young look with many young mistakes. But they'll win more games and still will finish under .500.

RECEIVING—Nothing to scare off enemy secondaries. Paul Flatley's a Viking retread who wasn't fast to start with; ex-Packer Dave Dunaway's got the speed but has never done anything. And the tight ends, led by Mike Donohoe, are supergreen. Jerry Simmons, who's been around, might help wide receiver crew. Rating—B.

RUNNING—Chance for real injection of class if Junior Coffey comes all way back from knee operation and rookie Paul Gipson keeps up early work. Harmon Wages supposed to be another Hornung, too, in all ways, right down or up to golden curls. And there's irrepressible Cannonball Butler, who always looks good in early fall. Rating—B.

LINE—Insurance on quarterbacks threatens to be prohibitive in cost. Dutch is going with virtually all-new cast. Three rookies—tackle George Kunz and guards Malcolm Snider, Dick Enderle—already tabbed for regular spots. Jerry Jones at left tackle only guy with any experience. Going to be hell until they learn to work together. Rating—D.

DEFENSE
LINE—Probably strong

"Sooner"

Oklahoma, the "Sooner State," gets its popular nickname from homesteading days of 1889, when the term "sooner" referred to a person who entered and staked a claim for land sooner than the law stipulated, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

North's jump to four clubs was a fragment bid. It conveyed the message that North wanted to play four spades irrespective of how weak his partner's one-spade response had been. Furthermore, if South had a good hand, he wanted him to know that part of the reason for North's very strong rebid was that he held a singleton club.

Practically every modern partnership uses some form or other of this bid. Some pairs use an anti-fragment bid and jump in the suit in which they don't hold a singleton. Players using the anti-fragment would jump to four diamonds rather than to four clubs with the North hand.

Change the North hand a trifle by giving him the king and a small diamond and two little clubs instead of his actual holding, and he would simply raise to four spades.

It costs a pair very little to use one of these artificial bids. Thus North could jump to three clubs if he wanted to force with a heart-club, two-suit type hand.

Thus when a partnership uses a fragment or an anti-fragment bid the jump to game in partner's major suit response shows a very good hand but denies a singleton.

South doesn't have much of a hand but he can move to the spade slam with confidence since he knows that his partner's trumps can take care of his losing clubs.

Pictured above are Ford salesmen who left on a chartered bus this morning for Hot Springs to see the new line of 1970 Ford products. The showing will be in the new Civic auditorium. Salesmen represented Hope Auto Co. in Hope, McLarty Ford in Texarkana, McLarty Bros. in Magnolia, Nashville Auto in Nashville and Fugitt Sales in Murfreesboro. Frank, Tom and Mack McLarty were hosts for the men at breakfast at the Town and Country restaurant before their departure.

By BOB COCHNAR
NEA Automotive Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Ever since Ralph Nader became the self-anointed protector of the consumer, he hasn't really had the time to snipe successfully at the automotive industry regarding safety.

This is too bad because it is reasonably obvious that nobody—including the federal government—has jumped in to fill the void. Nader's book, "Unsafe at Any Speed," and his subsequent appearances before Senate committees were instrumental in convincing the Johnson administration to create a Department of Transportation and a highway safety agency.

There was, in the beginning, a flurry of activity. Car safety specifications were thrust upon the international auto industry and Dr. William Hadden, head of the safety agency, kept the Detroit moguls nervous. But with the changing of the guard in Washington last January, auto safety somehow was lost in the shuffle. President Nixon did appoint John Volpe head of Transportation but, at this writing, there is still no replacement for Bill Hadden.

Nader and his Raiders are out after the food and drug industry at the moment and, aside from a few half-hearted denunciations of the auto industry are trying other fish. What better time for some group within the automotive establishment to step forward and assume the mantle of safety leadership?

I have a group in mind. Despite a minimum of publicity, motor racing organizations have traditionally regarded safety as the pre-eminent factor of the entire business. Racing organizations have created detailed regulations for the presentation of races, preparation of race cars and condition of drivers.

For example, before any sort of race, every car undergoes a detailed inspection. The slightest deviation from a rule will result in a scratched entry. Drivers as well are put through a series of tests before they are permitted to compete.

And racing's safety record, considering many factors, is excellent. As the national interest in racing grows, more attention is being focused on the sport and the people who run the sport.

M & M Leasing Company of Hope, a rapidly expanding transportation leasing company serving most of the ArkLa Tex area, recently hosted a visit by three trucking experts from Cummins Engine Company of Columbus, Ind.

The representatives from Cummins, one of the world's largest manufacturers of diesel engines were here to discuss a pilot cost analysis program for M & M's fleet customers. Joe Dillon and Fritz Gerlach from Columbus and Ned Cone, southern regional representative from Atlanta, presented the program to M & M officials.

The Cummins program involves the use of a computer to plot simulated vehicle trips and to extract from data of truck operations cost figures for the different parts of the vehicle. Also included in the program is a scientific diagnostic service which will enable mechanics to identify trouble spots as they develop so the necessary repairs or corrections can be made before a costly on-the-road breakdown occurs.

Mack McLarty, Chairman of the Board of M & M commented, "This visit by Cummins represents a breakthrough for M & M. This program will give us access to the best minds in the transportation industry and will be a definite benefit to us as we try to provide better services for our customers."

The three Cummins representatives toured M & M facilities in Hope, Nashville and DeQueen during their visit. They were luncheon guests of the Frank McLarty's at the Town & Country restaurant.

More Placed on All-1940s Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — On the second play from scrimmage in the Chicago-Washington National Football League championship game of 1940 Bear running back Bill Osmanski took a handoff from quarterback Sid Luckman and raced 68 yards for the touchdown.

It was only the beginning. Before it was over, the Bears had put 73 points on the scoreboard, shut out the Redskins—and established the unequalled proficiency of the T-formation. The single wing, double wing, A formation were out.

Luckman, Sammy Baugh and Bob Waterfield, the three leading quarterbacks and exponents of the T-formation as team after team put in the system, have been honored for their contributions by being selected to an All-NFL 1940s team.

The team helps commemorate the 50th anniversary season of the NFL, which in conjunction with Simon and Schuster Inc., is publishing a book called "The First Fifty Years." Featured in the book are five all-star teams, one for each decade in NFL history, and leading up to the selection of an Alltime NFL team. Luckman, Baugh and Waterfield, who among them accounted for 48,462 yards in the air and 424 touchdowns, share honors on the 33-man All-1940s squad with seven other players already inducted into the Hall of Fame.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Surgical Removal Best For Painful Hammertoe

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—I have a hammertoe. Can it be corrected in a doctor's office or must I go to a hospital?

A—Hammertoe is an upward extension of the first joint of a toe, usually the second toe, coupled with an acute bending downward of the rest of the toe. If it is very painful it should be amputated. This should be done in a hospital.

Q—What can be done to relieve the pain of a bunion? Is operation for this usually successful?

A—A bunion rarely occurs in a person who walks several miles every day but, once one has formed, a long daily walk will not cure it. I would advise trying special shoes that relieve the pressure on your bunion but, if this doesn't work, surgery offers you the best chance for relief. The operation is usually successful, but it should be followed by exercises to restore strength to the weakened muscles if you want to prevent recurrence.

Q—What is the best treatment for a soft corn between the toes?

A—This is a form of ringworm and should be treated as such with Whitfield ointment or other ringworm remedies. Recurrences are common.

Q—I would like some information on arthrogryposis.

A—This is a contraction of the joints, especially those of the hands and feet. It is usually present from birth and may involve all the joints of the upper and lower extremities. The joints affected should be massaged and gently straightened out. In most cases splints or a plaster cast must be applied. Treatment with drugs has been disappointing.

In a recent column a woman stated that she had a craving for ice. Although this is not harmful in itself, a recent study reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association indicates that an urge to eat ice, clay or laundry starch may be a symptom or a cause of an iron deficiency. Anyone, especially a woman, with this type of perverted appetite should have a blood count. If an iron deficiency anemia is present, taking iron should cure both the anemia and the abnormal craving.

MONEY IN LITTER

NEW YORK (AP) — A litterbug in Maine has found a way to make littering self-liquidating.

Allen H. Seed Jr., executive vice president of Keep America Beautiful, Inc., reports that a litterbug caught in Maine tossing away an empty soft drink bottle was fined $20. This litterbug, with the help of friends, picked up enough returnable beer and soft drink bottles in this age of affluence, to pay the fine with the deposit refunds.

That amounts to about 1,000 bottles with the usual two-cent deposit.

"The case, aside from revealing a litterbug's ingenuity, demonstrates that deposits no longer deter people from littering with returnable beer and soft drink bottles in this age of affluence," Mr. Seed concluded.

Fish Story; Insurance Rises on School Vandalism

General Manager Paul H. Jones reports someone told Walter Baber, local barber, the following fish story — and I have asked Arthur Storch and Capt. Bob Peterson to put it in File 13 of our Ananias Club: A local fisherman asked his friends to be on the lookout for a one-eyed bass in Millwood Lake. As he explained:

"He hooked a big bass and fought him for an hour. Finally the bass broke loose — but the hook came up with one of his eyes."

"I suppose," said a friend, "the eye was as big as a basketball."

"No," replied the fisherman, "not that big, really. It was about the size of a baseball — and only weighed a pound."

The Star has had notice from James H. Jones, superintendent of Hope Public Schools, that vandals operating against school property here will be prosecuted vigorously and parents will be held responsible for payment of damages. This summer the schools have lost $75 in broken windows alone, he said.

I learned of this bulletin after I had already marked a paragraph in Thursday's Wall Street Journal for comment today. On Thursday the WSJ reported that insurance rates on college campuses are skyrocketing because of wide-spread student unrest and vandalism.

The Journal reports specifically:

Fire insurance rates jumped 40 per cent April 1 for all school buildings in California.

At one West Coast university the underwriter put a stiff clause into the renewal policy on 150 millions — the deductible was raised from $25,000 to half a million. That is to say, the school and the taxpayers bear all of the first half-million in damage.

Parents are legally responsible for damage caused by minors. What the Hope Public Schools are saying on the eve of the opening of the 1969-70 school year is simply this:

"If you don't know where your youngsters are at night — you'd better find out. For what damage they do you're going to pay the bill — not the taxpayers."

Lawyers Plan Next Step in Kennedy Case

EDGARTON, Mass. (AP) — Lawyers for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy planned their next legal move today amid speculation they might appeal a District Court judge's ruling against the cross-examination of witnesses at next week's inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne.

Edward F. Hanify, representing the senator, argued before Judge James A. Boyle Thursday that it would be "flying in the face of reality" to say a man in Kennedy's position had no right to ask for the right to cross-examine.

"Is it conceivable in this day and age," he asked, "that there can be a public accusatory procedure, with the spotlight of the media of the world focused on one man, and that man be denied the right to have counsel present to cross examine witnesses and introduce evidence?"

Boyle stood firm, however, on his ground rules for the inquest into the death of the 28-year-old Washington secretary, who died when a car driven by Kennedy plunged off a bridge on nearby Chappaquiddick Island July 18 and landed upside down in a tidal pond.

The judge rejected arguments that an inquest is of an "accusatory nature," that is, similar to a trial. He held instead, after a 55-minute hearing, that it would be more similar to a grant jury proceeding.

Boyle, who will preside at the inquest beginning next Wednesday, said he would permit attorneys for the witnesses to advise their clients during the proceedings on questions of a constitutional nature, but he rejected the contention that constitutional guarantees of due process would apply.

Nixon Plan for Schools to Get Test

By WILLIAM BARTON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Nixon administration school desegregation policy — seen by critics as contradictory and confusing — comes to the test next week.

As pupils in 17 Southern and Border states return to fall classes, a controversy swirls on the direction of civil rights enforcement 15 years after the Supreme Court declared unconstitutional the "separate but equal" concept.

"Pussyfooting" is the tag put on the Nixon policy by Clarence Mitchell Jr., Washington representative for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"Retrospective," said some dissident lawyers in the Justice Department's civil rights division.

"Politics," declared congressional liberals.

Nevertheless, by this time next week, government officials say almost twice the number of Negro youngsters will be attending previously all-white southern schools as in any previous year.

Figures alone are impressive. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare says that of 4,476 once segregated districts, a total of 2,994 will open next week with completely unitary schools, unidentifiable by race.

Of the remainder, 369 are under court orders to desegregate and 1,107 are functioning under voluntary plans submitted to HEW for achieving total integration.

"This means," said an HEW spokesman Thursday, "that where one-fifth of the South's Negro youngsters were attending integrated white schools last year."

Says Forrest City Tired of Extremists

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Thursday he had "very definite" evidence that the majority of persons in Forrest City were tired of extremist pressures from both Negro militants and "ultra-right John Birch attitudes."

The governor said he was "very unhappy" that his efforts to be helpful at Forrest City had been followed by an outbreak of violence Tuesday night.

Rockefeller criticized the news media for focusing attention on the "walk against fear" staged last week by Lance "Sweet Willie Wine" Watson of Memphis rather than on efforts of three ministers in the Committee for Peaceful Coexistence in Forrest City who are meeting with state officials this week on problems of the poor.

Smoking Baboons Drive Caretaker Crazy as He Is Trying to Quit

By MIKE DUFFY
Associated Press Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — As everyone who has tried to give up cigarettes knows, it's tough to break the habit when you hang around with a bunch of heavy smokers. And if your companions are baboons who smoke four packs a day, it's enough to make you go ape.

Henry Swanson Jr., 32, has been trying to stop smoking for a year.

But he has to spend most of his time with three live baboons who are crazy over smoking cigarettes as eating bananas.

Swanson is a caretaker for the animals who are part of a Louisiana State University School of Medicine research project on the effects of smoking on hardening of the arteries.

Swanson, who has been smoking since he was 12, says "mostly lack of will power" keeps him puffing. But lighting up four packs a day for the baboons would put a strain on anyone's

Twins Drown at Bearden

BEARDEN, Ark. (AP) — The nine-month-old twins of a Bearden couple drowned late Thursday afternoon in a bathtub at their home.

They were identified as Bob by Hugh Ramsey and Billy Jean Ramsey, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Ramsey.

County Coroner Jack Barger said Friday that the babies were left unattended and their bodies were discovered by their three-year-old sister. There are two other children in the family.

Barger said the water in the tub was 5½ inches deep.

An inquest was held and a coronor ruled that the drowning was accidental.

Marines Win Battle But 72 Killed

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Four companies of U.S. Marines fought their way up a hillside through a stream of enemy gunfire Thursday in the foothills southwest of Da Nang. After nearly two weeks of hard fighting in this sector, at least 72 Americans and 646 North Vietnamese were reported killed.

A battalion of the 7th Marine Regiment advanced against North Vietnamese firing from fortified bunkers. Marine tanks reinforced the foot soldiers in the fight to keep the North Vietnamese from breaking into the thickly settled coastal lowlands.

Latest field reports said 18 Americans were killed and 66 wounded in Thursday's fighting. Twenty-three North Vietnamese were reported killed.

In the valley beneath the hill, a company from the 196th Light Infantry Brigade linked up with a Marine company. But about 150 yards away another 75 men from the brigade suffered 30 per cent casualties — five killed and 22 wounded — in a five-hour fight, and only five North Vietnamese were reported killed.

A Marine helicopter crashed near the fighting, but a U.S. spokesman said mechanical trouble brought it down rather than enemy fire. Three Americans were seriously injured, and eight others suffered minor injuries.

A small Army observation helicopter also was shot down 19 miles northwest of Saigon, wounding two crewmen.

The losses raised to 2,979 the number of American helicopters lost in the war.

Elsewhere in Vietnam:

Just below the demilitarized zone, North Vietnamese troops attacked bivouacking U.S. Marines Thursday night. Six North Vietnamese soldiers and three Marines were killed, and nine Marines were wounded.

U.S. headquarters said there were 21 enemy rocket and mortar attacks from 8 a.m. Thursday.

White Construction Workers Incensed at Demands by Negroes

By JACQUELINE SNYDER
Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Hundreds of white construction workers angered over an order that stopped them from working for two days to meet Negro job demands marched through Pittsburgh's downtown today, carrying signs, chanting and clapping their hands.

As they progressed through the downtown during busy morning rush-hour traffic, pedestrians along their way whistled, cheered and clapped. Motorists in cars and bus drivers honked their horns. People in buildings along the march route tossed confetti out of windows.

About 600 of the workers gathered at Pittsburgh's Civic Arena, just on the fringe of the biggest Negro area in Pittsburgh, and started their march. They milled around until a group of ironworkers surged forward and shouted: "Let's go!" As they walked, more people joined the march. Police estimated the crowd at 2,000.

"We want to work! We want to work! We want to work!" the men chanted. Interspersed were cries of "White power." Some of the signs read: "White Pride and Union Unity," "Joe Sold Us Down the River," and "Down With Joe, We Want to Work." The "Joe" was in reference to Mayor Joseph M. Barr.

The workers took a winding path through the downtown, keeping to the sidewalks and stopping traffic only when they crossed the street. Policemen on motorcycles escorted the group. The march was orderly.

The marchers stopped at the City-County Building where about 200 construction workers gathered to protest the shutdown of construction projects to meet Negro demands that more blacks be admitted to craft unions.

The negotiations began late Thursday in the office of Mayor Joseph M. Barr.

The coalition, a loosely knit union of the city's Negro groups, organized the three-day protest to point up the fact that only two per cent of the city's more than 30,000 trade union jobs are held by Negroes.

Herbert Hill, labor director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said his group plans legal action to halt all publicly funded construction in the United States until more blacks are admitted to craft unions.

"Either black men work or nobody works," said Hill. "We are not going to allow billions of dollars of federal, state and municipal funds to be used to subsidize racial discrimination in the construction industry."

About 500 white workers, idled by the shutdown, wearing work clothes and carrying hand-lettered signs, moved through the downtown area after picking up their paychecks Thursday and began picketing City Hall.

Some of the union members forced their way into the mayor's office.

Later, they were joined by a group of their wives, who pounded on Barr's door, shouting, "C'mon, Joe, give us a break. Talk to your own kind. We're the white power."

Mrs. Edward Kennedy Loses Baby

HYANNIS, Mass. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's wife Joan has lost the baby she was expecting in February.

A spokesman at Cape Cod Hospital said today she was in good condition, resting comfortably and probably would remain in the hospital for a couple of days.

The spokesman said Mrs. Kennedy had undergone minor surgery which is usually routine in miscarriages.

Mrs. Kennedy, who will be 33 next Tuesday, was taken to the hospital shortly before 8 p.m. Thursday by her sisters-in-law Ethel Kennedy and Mrs. Stephen Smith.

The senator, who was on an overnight camping trip to Nantucket Island off the Massachusetts coast, flew to Hyannis when notified of his wife's miscarriage. He stayed at her bedside for some time.

The Kennedys have three children — Kara, 9, Edward M. Jr., 7, and Patrick Joseph, 1.

Mrs. Kennedy had miscarriages in May 1963 and May 1964.

Her latest pregnancy was made known about a month ago, the night Sen. Kennedy went on national television to comment on his conduct after the auto accident which took the life of Mary Jo Kopechne. An inquest into the accident is scheduled to open next Wednesday.

Mrs. Kennedy originally had planned to accompany her husband and the others on their camping trip Thursday, family friend reported, but fell ill and decided to stay home.

Others making the trip with the senator included his cousin Joseph Gargan; Rep. John Culver of Iowa, a former classmate at Harvard; Mrs. Culver; the senator's two older children; and John F. Kennedy Jr., son of the late president.

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — While National Guardsmen and State Police helped keep the peace in the streets of this racially troubled town, almost 300 whites organized to demand a return to "law and order."

The group organized itself into the Concerned Citizens Committee to bring about changes in the city administration if they are warranted, to provide escort service for women working at night and to mount a voter registration drive.

"I've heard people try to inject race hatred in this thing but the hatred is not here," said Dr. Norman Saliba, a local surgeon who says he is a member of the John Birch

New Version Gives CIA Clean Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Central Intelligence Agency is given a clean bill in the Green Beret mystery story in the newest version of the case told by sources identified as CIA officials.

Defense lawyers for the eight U.S. Special Forces men held by the Army in South Vietnam for investigation on charges that they murdered a Vietnamese have alleged that the CIA was involved.

Attorney George W. Gregory said the alleged murder victim was a communist double agent hired by the CIA. Some Saigon sources said CIA ordered him killed after films caught him talking with North Vietnamese in Cambodia.

Now, this version has been made available to newsmen in Washington.

The Vietnamese agent was working for the Green Berets and after he was suspected of being a double agent, the Green Beret men asked CIA friends, who were also engaged in undercover work in South Vietnam, what they should do with the suspect.

The CIA officers recommended that the suspect be turned over to South Vietnamese authorities, who could pursue the interrogation into the suspect's activities and knowledge.

Later, one of the eight Green Berets came to a CIA colleague and said the suspect had been killed. The Green Berets had

AP News Digest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
SAIGON (AP) — Four companies of U.S. Marines fought their way up a hillside through enemy fire Tuesday as the two week long series of battles in the foothills southwest of Da Nang continued. At least 72 Americans and 646 North Vietnamese are reported killed in the fighting.

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — North Korea said today all three American helicopter crewmen who were shot down Aug. 17 are alive and offered to exchange them for a confession and apologies from Washington.

At a meeting of the Korean Armistice Commission, the chief North Korean representative said Capt. David H. Crawford of Pooler, Ga., and Spec. 4 Herman E. Hostetter of Lowpoint, Ill., were seriously injured. He said WO Malcolm V. Loepke, the pilot of Richmond, Ind., was slightly injured.

The North Korean delegate, Maj. Gen. Lee Choon-Sun, said doctors are treating them, but he gave no further information on their condition.

He said North Korea would consider their return "in accordance with past practices" if the Americans admitted "criminally" sending the CH-23 helicopter over North Korea.

Lee apparently was referring to the arrangement under which North Korea released two other American helicopter crewmen in 1964, a year after they were shot down on May 17, 1963. The North Koreans returned them after the U.N. Command signed a document admitting they were spying, then repudiated the confession as soon as the men were returned. The same procedure was followed to get the Pueblo crew back last December.

Once again U.S. officials contend that the helicopter pilot lost his way and flew into North Korean air space by mistake. But there was no indication from the U.S. representative on the armistice commission, Marine Maj. Gen. Arthur H. Adams, how soon a similar confession-apology and then repudiation might be forthcoming.

After the North Korean negotiator admitted that the men were alive but injured, Adams requested their immediate return for medical treatment, but Lee rejected this.

"It seems that your side is not yet prepared to receive the three crewmen," the North Korean said, "and you are in no position to discuss the matter further."

The U.N. command said earlier that the helicopter was on a routine training flight from Uijongju, just north of Seoul, and that the pilot radioed he was lost. North Korea said the chopper was downed near Kumchon, about 15 miles north of the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea.
